

RegEd Extends Communications Compliance Suite with Robust E-mail Archiving Capabilities

January 22, 2013

RALEIGH, NC: RegEd, a leading provider of technology solutions for compliance and risk management, announced today the addition of a robust e-mail archiving solution to its customer Communications Compliance Suite. E-mail remains the hub of messaging in modern business for marketing, operations and service. Integrated with its already successful Social Media Archiving and Surveillance solution, powered by Arkovi, this new module is also seamlessly deployed through RegEd's platform.

"E-mail and social media remain closely linked and are still the main methods of how we carry our identity online," said Blane Warrene, senior vice president, Customer Communications at RegEd. "E-mail also continues to act as a knowledge base for most workers, where the most valuable information about a business resides."

RegEd's Communications Compliance Suite includes tools to enable the use of and manage risk within advertising, e-mail, social media and websites. The focus of RegEd's e-mail archiving is to mitigate the risk created by a company's electronic communications with its intuitive, reliable and scalable solutions. The cloud-based e-mail archiving platform allows customers the peace of mind of always-on data collection from anywhere, anytime.

"Regulatory scrutiny of digital communications remains at heightened levels for the foreseeable future. Rather than working through multiple platforms, our customers are able to archive e-mail and social media activity in one single platform simplifying the recordkeeping and oversight for firms to one dashboard," said RegEd chief executive officer, John M. Schobel. "Our goal continues to be enabling strong business while reducing the complexity of compliance."

The solution offers key components of archiving and surveillance in an easy to implement and use platform. This includes flexible tools for differing levels of access, encryption, extensive audit trails and more than 20 pre-defined policies to employ. Easy-to-use search capabilities ensure that critical company information is available on demand and provides a rapid retrieval process. It also includes support for importing history from other archives ranging in size from gigabytes to terabytes. The platform supports Microsoft Exchange, GroupWise, Domino, POP3, Postfix and more.
